Delegate to Ottawa For Irrigation Scheme

Dr. Gershaw and A. P. Burns Are Representatives

Negotiations with the Provincial government by the Medicine Hat Chamber of Commerce regarding the Redcliff-Romaneau Irrigation scheme have been very satisfactory.

At present Mr. Fallow is in Ottawa where he will be joined by Dr. A. P. Burns and Dr. Gershaw to present the case to the Dominion government.

House Improvement In The Housing Act

Has Passed The Committee Stage at Ottawa

Federal Government assistance in construction of low-cost houses was passed.

In three parts, the bill provides for an extension and enlargement of the Dominion Housing Act, a $30,000,000 loan fund for low-rental housing projects, and for assistance from the government in payment of the first three years' municipal taxes on new houses built under the act, costing $4,000 or less.

U. S. reports that European wheat crop this year will be 100 million bushels less than last year.

Heavy rain storms in Montana last week-end did considerable damage. Farm and town buildings were ruined and in river floods 9 people were drowned.

bumper fall rye crops in northern and central Alberta were forecast. These were forecasts of 40 to 50 bushel crops and stands the average "about as high as a horse."

Very little has been threshed out as to what took place at the meeting of Social Credit members in Edmonton. Three long sessions were held sitting late in the evenings.

Withdrawal of chartered banks from the province in view of their attitude in closing various branches was generally advocated at the Social Credit caucus Monday. It is learned on high government authority.

Western Wheat Pools Ask Active Wheat Board

Ask For Reasonable Minimum Price Be Fixed

Representatives of the three western Wheat Pools were recently in Ottawa in conference with members of the federal cabinet. A request was made that the Wheat Board be permitted to receive wheat during the coming crop year and that a reasonable minimum price be fixed. During the past two years the Board has not accepted deliveries from farmers. A regulation was in effect that wheat would only be accepted if the price went below 90c, and then the price would be 87½c.

The government has decided to drop plans for a revision of the Canada Grain Act this session, but is planning on introducing legislation to place trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange under the supervision of the government agency. It is understood that the Board of Grain Commissioners do not want to undertake this task as was recommended by Justice Targue. The Board is asking that the Wheat Board be given the job.

The Wheat Situation Of Crops in America

U. S. and Canada 105 Million Acres Are in Crop

The dominant factor in the world wheat situation at the present time is the crop in North America. In the United States and Canada about 105 million acres are in crop to wheat. About 80 million of this total acreage is in the United States and the balance in Canada. The total is about double the acreage of the European wheat importing nations. Consequently its yield is a matter of great importance in world wheat affairs.

Old Swimming Pool Opened Up This Week End

Will Be Used Until The New Pool Completed

At a meeting of the local Swimming Pool Committee held last Tuesday evening it was found that it was impossible to get the new Swimming Pool in operation for some time yet.

On account of this it was decided that the old Swimming pool be opened up as soon as possible and used until the new pool is completed.

Mr. Van Wert has been appointed to get the old pool opened as soon as possible and he assures us he will have it all ready for this week-end.

We hope all children will keep away from the river and wait till the old pool is opened.

Members of the several swimming pool committees are all requested to meet the next meeting which will be announced in a short time.

Mr. Bill Paterson met with an accident in the Glass Factory last Friday evening. He had a fall but was not seriously injured and was back to work again on Monday.

Next Sunday there will be a Suffield School picnic at the river south of the town. It is expected there will be a large attendance and a good program has been arranged.

A number of car accidents have happened all over the country for the past few weeks. As there are a number of cars on all the highways now, drivers should be very careful.

Quite a number of young people from town attended the dance in Bienville last Friday evening and reported it was a enjoyable gathering. There was a large attendance and the music and refreshments were greatly appreciated.

Medicine Hat Rotary donated $100 last year for the erection of our new swimming pool and this year $250. The pool committee wish to extend thanks for the donations and request that Redcliff citizens support the Medicine Hat Rotary Carnival which will be held in the future.

Three School Pupils Won Park Prizes

Were a Number Plain by The Pupils and All Good

In the arrangement for the lay out of new park in which the new swimming pool is to be located, 20 of the school pupils submitted plans. All the plans were so well made the committee had some difficulty in deciding the winners and wish to complement all those who gave out the plans.

At the finish three prizes were given to the pupils.

The first prize was won by Geo. Ballisniere and the two second prizes were won by Dora Cooke and Annett Bastine.

The Unity Party Has A Good Idea

Reduction of Seats, Endemity Has Been Suggested

At a meeting of the advocates of Unity held in Edmonton last week-end speakers suggested that a reduction of the number of seats in the legislature, a reduction in the endemity of 20000, a consolidation of debts both public and private and the adoption of a pay-as-you-go policy in provincial finance so that the debt we presently owe may not only be paid up, in due course, wiped out.

The Lethbridge Herald says: "There is not one of these suggestions impossible of fulfillment. And if a government were established at Edmonton to fulfill these proposals it would, within a very few years, lead to the greatest development of Alberta's resources we have ever seen, jobs for everybody and a higher standard of living than we have ever enjoyed."

Work at the New Swimming Pool Now Progressing

Expect to Have it Completed By Next Week

Owing to several showers of rain during the past week, the work has been somewhat slightly delayed in connection with the New Swimming Pool here. As the excavating was finished some time ago, the rain made the hole too muddy for going on with the work.

Now however work is progressing fairly well and the contractor informs us that if there are no accidents or break of machinery the completion of the pool will be finished by early next week.

Yesterday they commenced to put in the cement and it is hoped that it will be kept going till it is finished.

All are of the opinion that the New Swimming Pool will be one of the best in the district and are anxious to get it opened up.

At the meeting a Memorial Committee was appointed to arrange plans for the erection of a "Memorial" in the new Swimming pool grounds. Those appointed were the following school pupils: N. Osgood, C. Millard, Dolly Buckhler, R. Shurt, Lilly Humphrey and Ellen Hope and Mr. King as advisory capacity.

Calgary Council brought up a motion to ask the Alberta Bakers' Assn. for a reduction in the price of bread as the price of wheat is lower.

It is suggested that many conservatives still want Mr. Bennett to retain the leadership of the party. Members of parliament have urged him to reconsider at the convention next week.

On his birthday Mr. Arnold Hurlbert was visited by a number of friends at his home and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Defence Plans Of Canada Include Fortification Of The Pacific And Atlantic Coasts

The Canadian government's scheme for the fortification of the Pacific and Atlantic coasts has been revised completely, Defence Minister J. Mackenzie told the Canadian Military Institute at a banquet in this hour at Toronto.

"In accordance with the announced policy of the government, we are paying particular attention to the defence of our coasts," he said in his prepared speech. "At the present time we are concentrating on expenditures on the Pacific coast for strategic reasons which you will all appreciate. New armament has been ordered and the construction of new fortifications at Esquimalt, Vancouver and Fort Leavenworth are actually under way. It is hoped that funds may be available to enlarge this program and meet orders for further equipment next year."

Mr. Mackenzie said the most important factor in coastal defence was an adequate air force with a three-fold obligation to co-operate with the militia in air observation for the navy for protection of Canada's sea-borne trade and neutrality and to defend against air attacks.

In order to perform these duties reconnaissance aircraft, torpedo bomber aircraft are required and being supplied as "expediently as circumstances permit," the minister stated.

"Our defence policy has been most carefully thought out and will be implemented as funds can be provided," he said. "All we can have in mind, cannot be carried out in one year or two or even three. It is a policy of aggressive but in one for our national security and the protection of our neutrality."

The need for adequate defence has been re-emphasized by the attack on our fellow citizens and I feel that they wish us to proceed.

The peace of the world is precarious. Nations in Asia and Europe are at war and it will take the united efforts of all peace-loving powers to avert a major war—the consequences of which are beyond imagination. During this period of anxiety and Great Britain, as always, shouldered very great responsibilities. She should and must be supported in her struggle in this regard.

The minister said the federal government was anxious to replenish our meagre stock of ammunition and exhaustive survey of manufacturing resources for industrial mobilization, if need be, is being carried out.

His remarks are being manufactured in Canada and the defence department is negotiating for aircraft and munitions with military equipment.

Negotiations also are being pressed for obtaining an adequate supply of guns and the defence department is manufacturing them in Canada, he said.

The militia has been re-organized along modern lines to provide a balanced force of all arms, Mr. Mackenzie said. A defence committee of the cabinet has been set up and an inter-departmental committee on profits control has been named to ensure there will be no profiteering in munition and armament contracts in Canada.

"Production capacity of our Quebec arsenal has recently been increased and a larger amount of small arms ammunition and tracer ammunition is being provided annually. The equipment of the arsenal has been increased for the manufacture of gun ammunition up to 4.5 inches and a gauge plant, long desired, has been installed.

"Arrangements for the manufacture of certain types of shell in this factory in this country have been completed and ensure the possibility of rapid expansion in the event of any grave emergency."

"Our study of the means of provision, from Canadian sources, of suitable vehicles for military purposes is advancing rapidly. We have had military trucks built to our office specifications with shortened wheelbases, special service bodies and very large tires. They have passed the necessary tests and we hope to place orders in the very near future for a considerable number. These vehicles take the place of the universal service wagon for front line transport."

Mr. Mackenzie said the government was endeavoring to equip the militia with military equipment as possible, made in Canada by Canadian labor.

"We are encountering difficulties in the carrying out of our policy in procuring our equipment. In this regard we do not stand alone as Great Britain and all the dominions have the same problem to face. Great Britain is busy with her own rearmament program. Some of our equipment may be bought from the motherland and deliveries are necessarily slow."

"Building of an adequate air force is a slow process as the Canadian aircraft industry is not sufficiently well equipped to permit rapid buildup," he said.

He appealed to employers to assist the government program by permitting employees to belong to the militia to attend the short period of annual military training "in security and with their normal pay."

Impossible To Define

No Dictionary Really Tells Us What Happiness Is

When he started out on his last voyage, Ramsay MacDonald, ex-prime minister of Britain, remarked that he was seeking "the most elusive of all forms of happiness—rest. The word 'happiness' implies pursuit, and it is probably true of most forms of happiness that they flee when pursued. Certainly the man who is forced by his health to find what happiness he may in resting from all the activities which have made life worth while is not likely to regard the project with much pleasure."

But what is happiness? One dictionary says it is "the pleasurable experience that springs from the possession of good." Too often, in the minds of men, the word "good" is pluralized, and happiness is sought in the possession of "goods." In fact another dictionary definition of happiness is "a state of mind in which one is free from pain or evil," and a further definition is "the state of mind which results from success or the attainment of one's desires."

The fact is, it is impossible to define happiness. There is a happiness of the body known as "comfort," but beyond this boon. There is a happiness of the mind known as "contentment," but for many people happiness seems to lie in a "divine discontent." For some, happiness is the pleasure which springs from the bringing of one's mind to rest. It is for that reason that the season of Christmas, is known as the happiest of the year.

Applies A Popular Fruit

Consumption In England Was Much Higher During 1936

Apples are the most popular fruit in Great Britain, according to a report of the Imperial Economic Committee. In 1936 the consumption was 29 pounds per capita, an increase of six pounds over 1935. In the earlier year oranges were most desired, but consumption was affected by the war in Spain. The banana had a phenomenally successful year, more than 20,000,000 bunches being imported—a record.

A train owned by J. J. Oliver White and driven by Carson White collided with a car owned by John White and driven by his son, William White.

The accident occurred in front of the home of Mrs. J. E. White in Wilson, N.C. The officer who investigated the accident reported that the car was painted white and it was loaded with milk.

Depends On Outlook

People Can Overcome Ill-Health To Certain Extent

Are you a person who enjoys poor health? There are many such. At least they seem to take great satisfaction out of telling their friends and neighbors just how poorly they are. Such an attitude of mind is not likely to help one to be well. People should will to be well and adopt an outlook on life which refuses to accept poor health as something inevitable or a subject to talk about as if it were an axiom.

Telling yourself and others about your physical or mental ailments may appear to create a certain amount of sympathy, but it is not really poor comfort. It is not likely to produce in you a feeling of well-being.

Don't make the most of your ill health. Crowd them out of your brain if you possibly can. The way to harbor ill health and make the most of them is to keep on talking about them. If you are determined to be well you must adopt an optimistic outlook—minimize your troubles, laugh at them, will to be well, and see what a lot it can be to you and your happiness.

Lecturer In Anatomy Believes Kindness Is Best Way

Dr. R. H. Hunter, lecturer in anatomy and embryology at Queen's University in Belfast, Northern Ireland, is giving demonstrations of his theory that kindness can be tamed by kindness. Smiling dressed in white, and a yellow carnation in his buttonhole, he enters a cage containing two forest-bred lionesses. He is armed with only a long-handled brush and a light forked stick. Usually the lionesses attack him, but he makes them do a few simple tricks, occasionally joggling them with the brush. He believes that the cracking of whips only infuriates the lion.

Physical Limitations Placed On Large Scale Irrigation Projects In Western Canada

Land Cultivation

Spring Ploughing Best Method For Food And Wood Control

In the 1936-37 annual report of the Dominion Ministry of Agriculture, the Field Husbandry Division of the Dominion Experiments Farms and Stations contributes interesting information on cultural experiments. In Eastern Canada, estate the report, methods of ploughing and land for grain indicate that summer ploughing of soil, with subsequent top-working, is the most suitable treatment, especially on weedy land. Only a limited amount of spring cultivation has been found necessary in preparing a seed bed for grain.

In Western Canada, the best method of summer-fallowing is the cheapest method that will provide for moisture conservation, weed control, and the prevention of soil drying. In dry regions, three surface cultivations are often all that are necessary: first, with the cultivator or one-way disk, second, with the roller, and finally with the cultivator. If more humid regions, five or six surface cultivations may be required, particularly where perennial weeds are present. Sometimes ploughing may be necessary to satisfy them current cultivation.

Methods for preparing stubble land for grain are influenced by the necessity for rapid seedling, small reserves of soil moisture, and usually weed contamination. In dry regions, spring ploughing is the best method for yield and weed control, but is subject to soil drying, and may result in a late seedling. On large areas, spring disking or cultivating separately or in combination with seeding is the most satisfactory method. In the more humid regions, it is possible to fall-plough stubble land.

Birds Attract Tourists

Bring Increasing Numbers Of Visitors To Canada

Canada's wild bird life attracts an attraction which brings increasing numbers of visitors to the Dominion. To see new birds it is necessary to travel, as the birds to be found in British Columbia differ from those of the prairie, and those of the prairie are not the same as those of Eastern Canada. Many thousands of people travel long distances to see wild bird life in its natural surroundings, unaccompanied by man.

Perhaps the most spectacular and successful of all the attractions that attract tourists is Perce Rock and Bonaventure Island, near Percé, Quebec, where thousands of gannets, sea birds, cormorants, and other sea birds make their summer headquarters.

During 1936, the year in which the most recent complete census was available, approximately 20,000 tourists visited Percé and saw this attraction. Between 5,000 and 6,000 of the visitors made the thrilling trip by motorboat around Bonaventure Island, three miles offshore, to see the thousands of gannets on the bird seawall on their nesting ledges. Because of the attraction of the bird seawall, tourists tend to stay longer at Percé than at other points on their route, and preliminary reports for 1937 show that the tourist movement to Percé and vicinity continues to grow.

Making It Right

It was the Sabbath, and Donald was hammering away at the bottom of his barrow, when his wife came to the door.

"Don," she exclaimed, "I've made a muddle of that. What do the neighbors say?"

"Never mind the neighbors," said the busy one. "I mean to get my hair mended."

The woman thought this over for a minute or two. Then "Oh, yes," Donald, it's very wrong to work on the Sabbath," she expostulated. "Ye ought to use scissors."

Could Not Be Stolen

The insurance agent was trying to induce the home to insure all his office furniture and fittings against burglary.

"I'll insure everything except the cash in the safe," he said.

"Isn't it worth insuring?" the agent asked.

"Yes," he said. "In fact, it's the best bit of furniture in the office."

"Then why not insure it?" asked the agent.

"It would be a waste of money," the boss replied. "It would be insured by the owner of the safe. The staff never take their eyes off it."

Both physically and economically there were severe limits to the development of large scale irrigation in Western Canada. The irrigation engineer of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, emphasized in an address to a service club at Saskatoon.

Mr. Vallance noted his remarks on surveys made under the P.F.R.A. in a great irrigation area running roughly from Virden, Manitoba, to Lloydminster, then to Calgary and south of the international border. "We are aware," he said, "that the possibilities of solving our great problem of the international border. We are aware that it is physically and utterly impossible," Mr. Vallance said.

The big irrigation projects, land, water and money were the three essentials. "We have the land without a doubt, but we haven't got the water," the speaker declared. "We have only eleven million acre feet of water available in the three prairie provinces. For effective irrigation we need 18 inches of water. Under the most favorable conditions about a million and a half acre feet of water would be required in both Saskatchewan and Alberta."

Problems to the three provinces were not negligible. It was entirely a matter of small details. In Saskatchewan development could not be carried out until the water level was in the province it was possible to have actual irrigation over considerable areas.

"You never see a dam that has anything to do with the control of water in Alberta, diversion canals and the like," Mr. Vallance explained. In Saskatchewan the water level was on an average of 500 to 550 feet above the level of the sea. In order to have irrigation in this province it would be necessary to construct a series of dams to pump the water. Such procedure had been found uncommercial.

For instance, irrigation was feasible from engineering standpoint in a large area west of Saskatoon but the cost would amount to $150 per acre whereas private enterprise indicated that a charge of $250 each acre for irrigation was all the land could afford.

Mr. Vallance recalled the origin of the P.F.R.A., pointing out the act had received the support of all the major organizations of political affiliations. Everything possible was being done to encourage and expedite irrigation and physically feasible projects.

Large areas of marginal and sub-marginal land are being reclaimed and turned into grazing pastures. Work of fencing was progressing and Saskatchewan six pastures had been reclaimed and were now from 6,000 to 40,000 acres.

There were tens of thousands of irrigated acres in the province. In 1936, the year in which the most recent complete census was available, approximately 20,000 tourists visited Percé and saw this attraction. Between 5,000 and 6,000 of the visitors made the thrilling trip by motorboat around Bonaventure Island, three miles offshore, to see the thousands of gannets on the bird seawall on their nesting ledges. Because of the attraction of the bird seawall, tourists tend to stay longer at Percé than at other points on their route, and preliminary reports for 1937 show that the tourist movement to Percé and vicinity continues to grow.

Mr. Vallance was of the opinion that the only uncommercial way to move the people from prairie provinces and that great wealth would again come from the grain fields of the west and that the P.F.R.A. work would aid greatly to the stability of agricultural conditions in the west.

There was a cloud burst, of rain in Medicine Hat last Monday and only about half way between there and Redcliff.

As a result of a runaway team in the Cypress Hills district, Walter Paulwell was thrown off
a wagon and met his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, and Mrs. Wilt Cox, of Calgary, are visiting with the parents of Mrs.
Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Podesta.

As tomorrow (Friday) will be the 1st of July, one of Canada's chief holidays, all the stores in town will be closed.

Besides the heavy rain storm Monday, we have had a little shower so far everyday this week.

The most rain in Alberta till last week-end was at two sections of Peace River and at Edmonton and Medicine Hat.

Mrs. G. Davies, who left for England last week to visit her parents, was presented with a gift by the Rebekah Lodge at the last meeting.

Mrs. Bert Wyatt of Hamilton, Ont., a former resident here, is at present visiting in town with Mr. and Mrs. R. Thacker. Her children are also with her.

Early last Monday morning a heavy shower of rain fell for about half an hour and shortly after another shower fell. It was the heaviest fell we have had for some time and it has made a fine improvement in crop condition.

Wandered — Black Mare, aged, wandered west of town on Vaux-hall road. He halted on Fleashed to notify if seen to Mrs. Lawson

Rains in northern Alberta last week-end helped to check the spread of forest fires, drove away clouds of smoke and brought relief to fire fighters.

Mr. G. F. Mellors who has purchased the confectionery store from Mr. J. Bergeron here is already getting well acquainted and his many customers are of the opinion that he and his wife will give a splendid service in their line.

A serious menace to health and a nuisance of the first order is the charge rightly made against the common house fly.
This is especially true in the warm months, from mid-summer to autumn, when it reaches its greatest abundance. It is a menace to health because it breeds in garbage, manure and human feces, and may pass directly from filth and other in-fester to foodstuffs.
